

SNYDER RESIGNED
SUPERINTENDENCY OF DIXON SCHOOLS

BOARD FELT THEY COULD NOT GRANT SALARY INCREASE
HE ASKED.

HAS BEEN HERE SINCE FALL 1909

Has Been Popular With Teachers and Pupils—Board Has Several Applications.

A special meeting of the board of education of the south side schools was held Friday evening to consider applications of teachers for the ensuing year. Superintendent W. R. Snyder in his application asked that his salary be raised from $1800 to $2100 and in case the board felt unwilling to grant the request he tendered his resignation, referring to the increase in enrollment in the school in the past three years and additions to the corps of teachers. He said there has been no change in his salary and he felt that his request was justifiable at this time.

The board discussed the matter at length, and feeling that they could not grant the request without making an increase in salary in the entire force of nearly thirty teachers, which was out of the question, accepted the resignation. The board already has a number of applications on file for the superintendency and they will meet the first of the week to further consider a selection and at the same time will also pass upon the applications of the present corps of teachers who have applied for their rooms for another year.

Prof. Snyder has been at the head of the south side schools for seven years, coming here from Monmouth at the opening of school in the fall of 1909. He has been in school work for many years, having been connected with the schools in various places in Illinois and Indiana. He was out of the work a few years, representing a large school supply house, but this was not to his liking and he returned again to work in the school room. He is an able instructor and held the esteem of all from the little tots to seniors. He was ever affable and pleasant and made friends with all with whom he came in contact. He has no definite plans for the future, but will look about for what openings there are in school work.

A blue serge coat belonging to W. F. Kirk, a roomer, is also missing.

A tramp who had been in the vicinity during the day is suspected and a man answering his description appeared at Andrew Smith's restaurant on Depot avenue shortly before midnight and offered the silverware and an umbrella for sale. UNSETTLED WEATHER
FOR MILADY'S GOWN

WEATHER MAN SHOWS NO CON-SIDERATION FOR FAIR SEX IN EASTER PROMISES.

WILL NOT EFFECT WORSHIPPERS

Weather Conditions Will Not Prevent Special Sermons and the Musical Services.

Inauspicious weather conditions for milady's new gowns and hat are forecasted for tomorrow, Easter Sunday, the day for which milliners and dress makers have been overworked for several weeks. The weather man—cruel thing—has forgotten all about the pleasurable anticipation with which the fair ones have been preparing for the day, the joy with which they have watched their tasty creations grow and the happiness with which they would "spring" them tomorrow, and sends out word today that Easter Sunday will be unsettled. The only bit of encouraging news in his forecast is a promise of "warmer."

Many Special Services.

But the weather conditions will not subdue the joy with which the happy season will be greeted in the churches and the glories of the Risen Christ will be praised in song and sermon at all of Dixon's houses of worship. Special programs have been arranged for all the churches and the pastors have extended cordial invitations, all-inclusive, to attend.

DICTMENT FOR ARSON—
TRIAL MAY 12.

TWO ADDITIONAL JURORS DRAWN

In the circuit court this morning George Manon of Harmon, indicted on a charge of arson, was arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty. An agreement was reached by Attorney J. E. Erwin, for the defendant, and States Attorney Edwards to call the trial for May 12. Manon was a tenant of the Long farm near Harmon and in February the house burned to the ground. The cause of the fire was mysterious and an investigation resulted in evidence being presented to the grand jury and an indictment being returned against Manon.

All defendants in the case of Julius C. Forbes vs. Wm. Clemen et al were called to appear for the hearing of the case today and defaulted. The case was heard and a decree for partition entered.

A number on the panel of jurors for the second and third weeks of court had been excused and it was thought advisable to add to the number remaining so on order of the court the sheriff was directed to subpoena two additional jurors for service next week. They were Edgar L. Crawford and Henry Shippert of Nachusa, and they were directed to appear in court Monday at 1:30 p. m. ## John W. Bate--The Efficiency Expert

Offers 26 Extra Features---Unique to the Mitchell
All Paid for Through Factory Savings

John W. Bate, the efficiency expert, has worked years to create here the model motor car factory.

It has meant the investment of $5,000,000. Nearly 45 acres have been covered with buildings. And 2,092 efficient machines are installed in them.

Costs have been cut on thousands of parts and on countless operations. Now 98 per cent of the New Mitchell car is built in this model shop. And the savings are shown by the 26 extras which this car embodies.

Fathers and sons in the Mitchell-Lewis concern have operated factories for 82 years.

We have built millions of vehicles involving close competition. And we succeeded beyond others through efficiency.

In 1903—when we entered motor car building—we aimed to minimize factory costs in that line. We knew the time would come when supreme efficiency would make one car the master of its class.

It has taken 13 years, because the line was new. Countless machines had to be invented, countless ideas evolved.

It took ten years to arrive at a settled model, after building Fours, Sixes and Eights.

In the Mitchell Light Six we found, it seems, the type that has come to stay. And we are equipped to build that type in the finest way at the lowest cost. The evidence lies in the many Mitchell features which are not found in other cars.

THE WICKED WASTE.

The bane of this industry, because of its infancy, has been extravagance and waste. It was so with us and all.

Most makers started by assembling their cars. Most makers still buy a large share of their parts.

Dozens of separate costs and profits were involved in a car. Thus the buyer got scanty value compared with other lines.

But there has for years been an over-demand. The value in cars was not scrutinized closely. Competition forced none to close figuring. So factory efficiency has been little considered among cars of the Mitchell grade.

Insatiate demand is all that tided this industry through years of such matchless extravagance.

DONE BY JOHN W. BATE

John W. Bate, expert in efficiency, was the first big man we brought to this motor car factory.

This great engineer had for 17 years devoted his genius to factory efficiency. Several vast industries have been revolutionized by his methods.

We secured able designers, inventors and salesmen. But note that our chief man was an efficiency expert. He came in our infancy as motor car builders. And the place the New Mitchell will claim from now on is due to John W. Bate.

This great Mitchell plant is as fine an example of efficiency as is found in any line in America.

THOUSANDS OF SAVINGS.

Mr. Bate's methods called for one-story buildings—everything on one floor.

The raw steel was to enter at one end, the finished car depart at the other. And all with out wasting a second.

They called for the utmost in automatic machines. Hundreds of costly machines have been discarded for machines which could save a few pennies per part.

They called for lighter parts, built of tougher steel. There are in the New Mitchell 184 drop forgings and 256 steel stampings.

They call for simple construction. Every needless part has been eliminated. Every man is given one operation.

Not less than ten thousand important economies have been worked out under Mr. Bate.

COSTS REDUCED HALF.

This New Mitchell car is produced for one-half what it would have cost us several years ago.

It is built for one-fifth less than it could be built if we let others make our important parts.

How much we save is shown by our extras. Our price is low for a big Light Six of the highest grade. Yet we offer 26 extras—some very costly. And all of these features which rivals don't offer are paid for through factory efficiency.

SOME OF OUR 26 EXTRAS.

These are some of the extras which the New Mitchell offers. No other car in this class, we believe, offers more than two of them. No other car at any price offers more than three or four:

Extra room—a 127 inch wheelbase. Compare that with other Sixes.

Motor-driven tire pump, with a pressure gauge on the tubing.

Reversible head lamps—searchlights which shine forward or backward, or wherever you want light.

A carburetor which costs 15 per cent more than the usual.

Bate cantilever rear springs, which double the ease of riding.

Oversize steering parts, made of Chrome-Vanadium steel and fitted with ball bearings.

Chrome-Vanadium steel for all parts which meet major strains.

An engine with drilled pistons and other perfections to give wondrous power to its size.

A 22-coat body finish of most enduring lustre.

One-man top and Jiffy curtains.

Engine primer on instrument board.

Ease of handling to get away.

Tool compartment under hood.

Handles for entering car.

Compartment gasoline tank, 18 1-2 gallons.

THESE—PLUS ALL ELSE.

These extras and others—26 of them—come on the New Mitchell, plus everything else which quality makers can offer.

These are new features in motor car building. Some of them are most important. All would be missed if omitted. And they all come to you in this car as a premium, paid for by factory savings.

Usually, when one maker gives so much more than another, you suspect him of hidden skimping.

Let us remind you that the Mitchell has long been the first choice of great engineers. We will send you a list if you ask it—a long list of the ablest engineers in America who selected the Mitchell car.

We know of six Mitchell cars which have together covered an 986,227 miles—an average of 164,372 each. That's a record, we think, that has never been matched.

Every part and material—every standard of quality—is that which the best engineers have adopted. At twice the price we could find no way to improve one important detail.

Efficiency means, above everything else, maximum service to customers. And we shall never let a car excel the Mitchell in that.

AN AFTER SHOW DESIGN.

This New Mitchell body was designed after the New York Show. It came out three months later than most current designs.

It combines all the new lines, beauties, features and equipment which our experts found in the 1916 models.

It follows what our artists consider the handsomest models created. It has the new tonneau cowl. It has the new equipment features—one-man top, jiffy curtains, hidden extra seats in tonneau, etc.

The upholstery is genuine leather, deeply filled with curled hair. Its design offers maximum comfort.

Thus the New Mitchell typifies, in every way, the current conception of a masterpiece car.

TWICE AS EASY RIDING.

In ease of riding the New Mitchell stands supreme. That is due to the Bate cantilever springs, which no other car embodies.

The extra comfort, compared with other cars, seems unbelievable. It rides the roughest places as a boat rides the waves. There is never a jolt. No shock absorbers are needed on this car. Your Mitchell dealer can prove this in five minutes.

In ease of riding, and in the 26 extras, you will find the New Mitchell an unmatched car. In every other respect—in the chassis or body—you will find it the equal of the best. Go and see it and learn how much Mitchell efficiency gives you that you want.

TWO PRACTICAL PATRIOTS.

How a Brother and Sister in Oklahoma Provided a School Flag—Why the Ancient Romans Revered the Candle. A Winsome Lady at Play.

In Oklahoma a brother and sister of ten and thirteen years, respectively, got the idea from reading that the district country school ought to have a flag. A mention of the need seemed to call forth little enthusiasm, and so, keeping their purpose secret, they begged some red, white and blue material, cut and sewed diligently at spare times, formed a correctly proportioned banner a yard wide and four feet long and, working one night by moonlight until after 12 o'clock, without consent of the directors they cut, trimmed, dragged and planted upright a slender pole nearly thirty feet tall and from it unfurled the flag on a balcony line to the morning wind. The teacher and scholars gathered later and sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and the flagmakers received a substantial remuneration as a surprise in turn from the whole community.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Birds in the United States.
There are 500,000,000 birds in the United States, according to an estimate made a little while ago by the government. This means that there are about five birds to every man, woman and child in this wide country. Bird lovers in every part of the United States assisted in taking this count. The census was taken by acres, and the most scientific methods were used. Those districts in which no count was possible were sized up by the results obtained from nearby places where the census had been thoroughly conducted. The final estimate is said to be reasonably near the actual figure.

Romans and the Candle.
According to Plutarch, the ancient Romans would not extinguish a candle, letting it burn out instead. The reason, he states, was that they considered fire an animal, for it needs nourishment, moves itself, grows with added food and when extinguished gives a gasp as if slain. The Romans were opposed to ending the life of so useful a creature. Probably they changed their minds quickly respecting this when a house got afire.

The little girl with the palm is Miss Virginia Thaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw 3d of Pittsburgh.

TABLE LINEN.

Hints About the Keeping of Your Favorite Fad.

"Table linen must be properly handled in the laundry if you would have it retain its freshness," says Marie. Strong bleaches must never be used on fine table linens. Of course the linen is often badly spotted and needs to be cleaned in some way, but boiling water removes coffee spots, cold water removes cocoa stains and sunshine removes many more spots. When stronger agents must be used they should be applied and removed by intelligent hands.

They should be allowed to remain on the spots just long enough to eradicate them and then rinsed thoroughly out with clear water, for if they remain on too long they remove not only spots, but pieces of the linen.

For fruit stains pour boiling water through them while the stains are damp, if possible. If they dry on rub them with lard and put through the usual washing process. Some old-fashioned housewives have their table linen dipped in buttermilk to whiten it. The linen is allowed to remain in the buttermilk for a day or two, if necessary, and is then thoroughly rinsed in cool, clear water and later in warm water.

Always dry linen out of doors in the sunshine. If possible have a little bleaching green of grass. Table linen must be quite damp when it is ironed, and it must be ironed until it is perfectly dry. Napkins should be ironed on both sides and a tablecloth, too, to give it the best appearance.

Physical Fitness Woman's Big Asset.

No woman nowadays can afford not to be well.

Ill health—even mere "dellency," with no positive manifestation of disease—costs too much. There is the obvious, direct expense of doctors' bills and medicines. But indirectly you pay a much higher price for not being well. If you are a wage earner your lost time and energy, due to a lack of physical strength, must also be computed in lost dollars.

Poor health will interfere constantly with your social good times. It will mar whatever beauty you may possess sooner than any other cause. If you are a wife and mother illness and weakness will interfere with your duties and the comfort of those dear to you. Whatever your station in life you will find that the role of invalid and weakness is no longer fashionable or popular. For awhile you will have the sympathy of your friends, but the best of them will be bored with you sooner or later. They can't help it. A worship of physical fitness is in the air, and instead of whining and plying yourself you must bend all your energies to the task of becoming well.

Cinnamon Rolls.

When it is desired to mold bread for baking take one loaf on a molding board, roll out to nearly a quarter of an inch thick, spread quickly with butter, brown sugar, white sugar and cinnamon. Roll up and cut off one and a half inch pieces. Have considerable melted fat in a dripping pan and dip the top of each piece into the fat. Allow them to rise until after the rest of the bread is baked, so that the rolls may be very light. They should be baked from twenty minutes to half an hour.

WOMEN ARE RIGHT TO VOTE ON OPTION

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—The state appellate court, in a decision in the case of the people of the state against Henry Ermovich, upholds the right of women to vote in local-option elections.

Ermovich, who was found guilty at Pana, Christian county, Ill., of selling liquor in anti-saloon territory, contended Pana was not dry territory, since a majority of the men had voted for the saloons, and the women, who voted a majority against the saloons, could not legally vote at such an election.

The court states that women may vote at any referendum election not involving a constitutional office.

URIC ACID IN MEAT BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says a little Salts in water may save you from dread attack.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water. Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action; thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Daddy's Bedtime

Story—How the Fox And the Horse Became Friends.

"Here he is, master," he told the farmer.

(Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.)

"O H, daddy, please tell us a fairy story by Mr. Grimm!" cried Jack and Evelyn.

So daddy sat down in his big chair, and this is what he told them: "Once upon a time a farmer had a horse that had been a good friend and helper to him. When the horse grew too old to work the farmer told him: 'I can't feed you any longer. You do no work. So leave my stable. I will not take you back again till you are stronger than a lion.'"

"The poor horse was very sad and wandered up and down the woods, seeking shelter from the cold wind and rain. Finally he met a fox and told him his sad fate. 'Cheer up,' said the fox, 'and I will help you. Even if your owner did turn you out when you were too old to work there is still justice in the world. Lie down here, stretch yourself out quite stiff and pretend to be dead.'"

"So the poor old horse did as the fox told him, and the fox dashed off to his friend the lion, who lived in a cave near by. Said the fox: 'A little way from here lies a dead horse. Come with me and you can make an excellent meal of him.' The lion was very hungry, so what the fox said pleased him, and he ran to the horse gladly. Then the fox said: 'You can't eat him comfortably here. Let me tie you fast to his tail. Then you can drag him to your cave and eat him at your leisure.' This idea pleased the lion, and he lay down and let the fox tie him fast to the horse's tail. But the fox managed to tie his legs together and bound him so fast that he could not get himself free. Then the fox clapped the horse on the shoulder and cried, 'Get up, Dobbin; get up!'"

"Are they going to have a race, daddy?" asked Jack.

"We shall see!" cried daddy.

"So up sprang the dead horse and up sprang the tied lion. Each pulled and pulled, but the fox had tied the lion so hard that he could not loosen his feet. The poor old horse tugged and tugged, dragging the lion behind him. The lion roared and bellowed till the woods echoed with his noise, and the birds became so frightened that they all flew away. But the poor old horse kept on tugging and made his way quietly back to his master's farmhouse."

"Here he is, master," he told the farmer who had turned him away. 'I got the best of him.' And when the farmer saw the bound lion his heart was touched, and he said: 'From now on you shall stay in my stable and have all the good hay and care you need.' And so the faithful old horse had plenty to eat and lived—till he died," daddy ended, with two good night kisses.

"Thank you, daddy!" the children cried.

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Truth is the telling of a thing as it is, not as you would like to have it.

Pessimists claim it is a lost art, like the art of hardening of copper.

Our first ancestors got into much trouble and were treed out of the garden of Eden by telling the truth, instead of leaving the case to the supreme court on technicalities. On the other hand Ananias and Sapphira got into still more violent trouble by not telling the truth. Ever since then mankind has been regarding the truth with a fearful and puzzled air, and tossing up between the two evils.

Truth is the principal ingredient of justice, honor and repentance. If there was more truth we could get along without a jury system, or a senatorial investigation committee, or a short weight commission, or customs inspectors, and life would be less excruciating if this piece of truth should be put into a government investigation.

It is easy enough to tell the truth, but the consequences usually keep the truth, like dentistry, but timid people usually prefer the latter. From his earliest days, when he is exhorted to tell the truth and get his skin hand-tooled, to his later life, when to tell the truth means to get his taxes boosted 400 per cent, man is taught to look upon this great accomplishment with admiration and terror. Only brave men tell the truth habitually.

Truth has been used to some extent in history, business and religion, and has lately been tried in politics with good results. It is useless in love, fishing and society, and in domestic relations must be used with great caution. In horse trading, mine selling and law a little truth will last for years without appreciable signs of wear. Vast quantities of truth are consumed by magazine investigators and minority statesmen and some of it is more dead than bug powder.

Occasionally a great corporation finds a piece of truth in its offices, where it has been overlooked by the janitor, and a great sensation results. It is immediately boxed up and concealed in the largest safe with great inspectors, and life would be less excruciating if this piece of truth should be put into a government investigation.

BERNSTORFF IN SPY PLOT TRAP

U. S. Probes His Demands for Incriminating Papers.

NATION-WIDE QUIZ ORDERED

Many Pro-Germans' Names Appear in Books Seized in Raid on Former Von Papen Room—Cabinet Consider Case—Von der Goltz's Confession Involves Prominent U. S. Citizens.

Washington, April 22.—Ambassador von Bernstorff has been caught in a trap from which he cannot escape, if Washington's interpretation of the last few days' developments is correct. Washington has come to the conclusion that the German embassy faces the necessity of admitting improper activities or having the fact proved against it. Whether Count von Bernstorff can show Washington is wrong remains to be seen.

Papers taken from the offices of Wolf von Igel, confidential secretary of Captain von Papen, and himself accredited to the embassy, form the principal basis for the belief. The confession of Horst von der Goltz in London, a copy of which is in Washington, forms another important element.

Considered by Cabinet. The situation was considered by the President's cabinet. It has been considered the last few days by the justice department and the state department. How seriously the embassy has been considering it was shown by the eighth demand made on the state department for the return of the papers and all photographic evidence concerning them to the embassy.

Predictions are made freely that Ambassador Bernstorff might be given his passports for reasons independent of the submarine controversy.

The trap in which some officials profess to see Bernstorff caught results from his desire to reclaim the Von Igel documents, as embassy papers, and yet not officially to admit anything as his own or his embassy's that would prove knowledge on his own part of improper activities.

A course considered, and understood to be practically decided on, is to insist that Von Bernstorff identify such papers as are embassy property.

Involves Many Pro-Germans. Among the papers seized by the U. S. authorities in their raid on Wall Street office were an account book and a journal of correspondence.

The account book contained entries of all payments made by Captain von Papen and by Von Igel since they established offices here. This was a thick volume. Every money transaction, even to the most minute detail, was recorded.

The journal contained names of all persons with whom there has been correspondence. Beside each name was a memorandum of the date the letter was received, the date it was answered and the number given the letter by Von Papen or Von Igel.

The names of hundreds of prominent Americans of known German sympathies are in this book. Other pro-Germans throughout the United States and other countries with whom there has been correspondence are also listed.

VILLA OFFICIALLY IS ALIVE

Governor of Chihuahua Says He Never Believed Story Bandit Was Dead—Hostility of Mexicans Toward Americans Said to Be Cropping Out—Germans Aid Villa?

El Paso, Tex., April 22.—"Mexico for the Mexicans" is believed to be the object of a vigorous movement to deport foreigners opposed to the Carranza government. Consul Garcia announced that the de facto administration has revived an old order calling on officials to report the names of all foreigners who have been antagonistic to Carranza. They will be deported.

Official Reports Give Villa Life. Chihuahua, April 22.—The body supposedly Villa's proved not to be his. The report that the bandit leader's corpse had been exhumed is positively stamped as false by General Luis Gutierrez, military commander here.

The bandit whose life was spared when he promised to point out Villa's burial place led the Carranza soldiers to a grave, but the body was not Villa's.

"I never did consider the report as having any foundation," said Gutierrez. "In fact, I do not know where Villa is, dead or alive. For days I have been unable to secure any definite information of his whereabouts."

This and official American reports that Villa is in Durango state, unwounded, were disclosed together with a Carranza order of April 15 prohibiting United States aviators flying over Mexican cities and barring the American forces from using the Mexican telegraph or telephone lines.

U. S. Aviators Fired On. Scores of shots were fired at the American who made a flight over the city Wednesday.

Resentment of the Mexican soldiers and populace against the continued presence of the American troops is becoming so general that Carranza military authorities declare they will be unable to control the people unless the expedition is soon withdrawn.

Consul Letcher reported to Washington that the Parral incident was not an isolated one. Other attacks on American troops by the inhabitants of Mexican towns are believed to have occurred.

Report 200 Carranzistas Killed. El Paso, April 22.—An unconfirmed report from mining sources stated that 200 Carranzistas were killed in an attack by Canuto Reyes' bandits on a Carranza army under General Jacinto Trevino, between Torreon and Saltillo. General Gavira, commander in Juarez, discredited the report.

Germans in Villa Plot?

Washington, April 22.—An investigation of alleged German connection with the Villa raid at Columbus is awaiting the return of the American expedition from Mexico. It is learned on high authority. The fact that the investigation awaits the return of the punitive expedition is understood to be caused by expectation that bandits captured will give valuable information.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Some Interesting Information For Boys and Girls.

BIRDS AND THE WEATHER.

Our Little Feathered Friends Not So Wise as We Give Them Credit For Being—Making the Most of Opportunity—Portrait of a Little Girl.

That birds are not such good weather prophets as they are generally believed to be is one of the assertions of Frank M. Chapman, the well known ornithologist, in an article on "Birds as Travelers" in St. Nicholas. Birds make as serious miscalculations as the rest of us, according to Mr. Chapman. "Sometimes," he says, "encouraged by an unusually mild period, birds come so far ahead of their usual time that they are trapped by the sudden return of cold weather. Then if they do not retreat they may suffer for lack of food. I have seen geese on the coast of Texas migrating northward in large numbers, urged onward by a warm wave. The next day, to my surprise, they all came flying back. But the day following a severe 'norther' suddenly arrived. The geese had evidently encountered this storm and were driven back by it."

Make the Most of Opportunity.

Don't wait for your opportunity—make it, as Lincoln made his in the log cabin in the wilderness. Make it, as Henry Wilson made his during his evenings on a farm, when he read a thousand volumes while other boys of the neighborhood wasted their evenings. Make it, as the shepherd boy Ferguson made his when he calculated the distance of the stars with a handful of beads on a string. Make it, as George Stephenson made his when he mastered the rules of mathematics with a bit of chalk on the sides of the coal wagons in the mines. Make it, as Douglass made his when he learned to read from scraps of paper and posters. Make it, as Napoleon made his in a hundred important situations. Make it, as the deaf and blind Helen Keller has made hers. Make it, as every man must who would accomplish anything worth the effort. Golden opportunities are nothing to laziness, and the greatest advantage will make you ridiculous if you are not prepared for it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Stars In the Sky.

Man may never know how many stars there are. The best we can do is to figure on the number that can be seen with the largest telescopes that have been invented, for you know there must be many millions of them which to us are invisible.

We have counted the stars so far as we can see them, or rather, so far as we can photograph them. Astronomers have found that a photographic plate exposed to the stars will show more of them than can be seen with the naked eye. By this method, the "Book of Wonders" tells us, man has been able in a way to count the stars he can see. It adds up to more than a hundred million of them. Astronomers found this out by taking photographs of the heavens at night, devoting one picture to each section until the entire heavens had been covered and then counting all the stars shown in the pictures.

VICE DETECTIVE IS ARRESTED IN COURT

J. H. Quilhot, of Fame Unenviable, Held in Michigan.

Battle Creek, April 22.—John H. Quilhot, "vice detective" who is said to have been married seven times to widows with money, and indicted at South Bend, Ind., for fraud, embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses, as a result of his alleged swindling of Mrs. Marion B. Miller Quilhot out of $75,000, is under arrest here.

The arrest is said to be the result of an alleged conspiracy between Quilhot and Mrs. Eugenie Young, whereby Quilhot was to supply Mrs. Young with evidence which would obtain for her a divorce and $16,000 from Young, a wealthy farmer. The alimony, it is said, was to be equally divided between Mrs. Young and Quilhot. The arrest was made in the court room, where Quilhot had appeared to take the witness stand.

The alleged contract between Quilhot and Mrs. Young was presented to the court.

South Bend, Ind., April 22.—Local authorities declare an effort will be made to return John H. Quilhot, under arrest at Battle Creek, Mich., to this city to face charges of swindling Mrs. Marion B. Miller Quilhot, his wife, out of about $75,000.

For Spring Brides.

A dainty and acceptable gift to tuck into the bride's traveling bag as a little surprise to her when her destination is reached is a boudoir set of cap and ribbon slippers. The whole outfit may be folded very small in its tissue paper wrapping and will take up scarcely any room at all in the bag—not as much as the handful of rice which is sometimes slipped in by a mischievous bridesmaid. The cap is an ordinary boudoir cap of white point d'esprit, filled with fine white lace and trimmed with the best quality satin ribbon in pale blue or pink shade. A bow of the ribbon is caught against the cap with a tiny rhinestone buckle.

The slippers have very flexible soles, cut from pale blue or pink goldenrod satin; two layers of satin for each sole, and a thin layer of cotton batting may be slipped between if one fancies a little thicker sole. Two inch blue or pink satin ribbon is sewed around the edge of the sole and fastened together at the back. About two inches of the ribbon are gathered along the upper edge over cord elastic to hold the slipper on the heel.

Ragged Sailors. Two cupsful flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half cupful sugar, an egg, one-half teaspoonful salt, three tablespoonfuls butter, one-half cupful chopped nuts, two-thirds cupful milk.

Directions.—Sift the flour, salt and baking powder, rub the butter in; then add sugar and nuts. Mix to a soft dough with the egg and milk, roll out thin and sprinkle with sugar. Roll up with the sugar inside, cut in slices three-quarters of an inch thick, place on a greased baking tin, brush over with beaten egg and bake about fifteen minutes.

They are a delightful combination of style and utility and, though rather high priced, are well worth the cost. They are to be had in white, cream and oyster white, tan, brown and biscuit Dutch, navy and gray blue, besides different tones of green and gray.

Your Seed Corn.

What does it test? If you have not tested it, do so at once. Be careful about old seed corn. Many reports show weak vitality. Be sure of either old or new corn by testing. We have listed some seed corn for sale and if yours does not test look up seed as soon as possible. Remember we do not guarantee corn advertised since it has been impossible to see and test it all. Buy it subject to test if necessary and lose no time. Don't take the risk of a poor crop by not knowing something about your corn.

Alfalfa.

Much alfalfa seeded last year is a poor stand. Don't condemn alfalfa because this is true. Look at the wheat, corn or any crop under such conditions. You may be able to reseed the fall sown alfalfa by discing up and sowing a light nurse crop with a new seeding. Another way would be to prepare the ground thoroughly and keep it well worked until June and reseed then without a nurse crop. This has proven very successful in many cases. Don't get discouraged by a loss in your alfalfa stand. Think of the good feed or hog pasture coming when you get a field started.

ENGINEERS TO SURVEY INDUSTRY

U. S. Naval Consulting Board Names Directors For Work.

FIVE ARE ILLINOIS EXPERTS

They Will Gather Facts Which Will Be of Valuable Assistance in Case of War—Those Chosen From This State Are R. W. Hunt, Frederick K. Copeland, Peter Junkersfeld and William Hoskins of Chicago, and William F. M. Goss of Urbana.

Howard E. Coffin, chairman of the Committee on Industrial Preparedness of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States, today announced the names of the 250 state directors, formed into boards of five men each, who, under the committee's direction, are setting out to make a complete survey of American industry for the first time in the history of the United States government.

These state directors will be under the immediate guidance of W. S. Gifford, Under them will work the more than 30,000 highly educated members of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Chemical society.

The state directors, who also become associate members of the naval consulting board, have just received appointment by the secretary of the navy. In making public their names Mr. Coffin said:

"The names and standing of these men speak for themselves. They have been selected by their own professional associates with the only standard that of efficiency and integrity. They work without pay; indeed, the services of many of them could not be bought. In my judgment they form a vast, flexible organization, the like of which has never been known in this or any other country of the world, and an organization, moreover, which from top to bottom is absolutely nonpolitical."

The directors from this state are as follows:

William Freeman Myrick Goss of Urbana, from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, is dean of the College of Engineering and director of the engineering experiment station of the University of Illinois; was born in 1839 in Massachusetts and educated at the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, is assistant to the vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago; was born in 1869 in Illinois and educated at the state

He is a member of the Institute of Chemical Engineers, the Society of Chemical Industry, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the Chicago and Illinois academies of science, the Western Society of Engineers and the Royal Society of Arts and Science and is a fellow of the American Society for the Advancement of Science. Frederick K. Copeland of Chicago, from the American Institute of Mining Engineers, is president of the Sullivan Machinery company; was born in 1855 in Massachusetts and educated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; holds two degrees; is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the National Metal Traders' association, the chambers of commerce of Chicago and the United States and for thirty years has manufactured mining machinery.

BURNETT BILL ROILS JAPS

Baron Chinda Points Out That It Violates "Gentlemen's Agreement."

Washington, April 22.—Baron Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, told President Wilson that popular resentment in Japan against certain features of the immigration bill pending in congress here was becoming intense. Not only is there much agitation in the press, but anti-American feeling is being revived over radical questions which have been more or less dormant since the outbreak of the European war.

What the ambassador pointed out as particularly displeasing to the Japanese is that portion of the Burnett bill passed by the house and reported favorably by the senate committee which excludes all persons not eligible to naturalization except those permitted to enter the United States by treaties or special arrangements. As the Japanese are the only race with whom the United States has a "special arrangement," this language is considered discriminatory.

HYPOCRISY IN LARGE PACKAGES

Stole Livery of Heaven to Serve Devil In.

HYPOCRITE IS EVERYWHERE.

Man Loves Gold and Hates to Be Imposed Upon by Counterfeits—Goods Shipped in Plain Packages—Many Local Merchants Deficient in Knowledge of Advertising.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.] The first hypocrite was the man who stole the livery of the court of heaven to serve the devil in.

Some people speak as if hypocrites were confined only to religion, but they are everywhere, people pretending to wealth when they have not a sixpence, assuming knowledge of which they are ignorant, shamming a culture they are far removed from, adopting opinions they do not hold and pretending honest business routes which are far from the legitimate.

As a man loves gold, in that proportion he hates to be imposed upon by counterfeits, and in proportion as a man has regard for that which is above price and better than gold he abhors that hypocrisy which is but its counterfeit.

Lying before the writer is the acme of hypocrisy. It is a catalogue of one of those mail order houses, and on one page three sewing machines are advertised. The first is declared to be the "most perfect sewing machine on the market," the second is said to have "more good sensible ideas than any other," while the third is praised as being "the most superior sewing machine on the market."

Now, which of these machines really is the best? Which of them is as good as the one your retailer sells and guarantees? Can any reader of the above triumvirate of ads. tell? Most assuredly not.

The lesson should be plain to all who receive these catalogues. They contain glowing descriptions of goods, but the senders of money do not know what they are going to get for their money when they send it to a mail order house.

Goods in Plain Packages.

Were it not so serious it would be amusing to read some of the smooth arguments, the catalogue houses advance to their readers in an effort to induce them to send in orders. They say that goods are sent in plain packages because many merchants who buy of them to sell again object to having their name appear on the boxes. We know we are safe in saying there is not one single merchant in the whole United States who ever ordered any goods from these concerns. The statement is made in an effort to make the consumer believe that he can buy as cheaply as his local merchant can.

But printed matter that will sell goods is within the power of almost any local retailer. Most all the expert advice is little more than empty generalizing about nonessentials. It is not literature, remember, but advertising, that you want to write. Knowledge of words and type and the ability to write fine introductory paragraphs and striking headings are not to be despised, of course, but the facts, not fancy ways of saying them, are what induce the people to spend their money in the local stores.

The merchant's knowledge of his store, his goods and the people is more than an offset for any lack of ability to coin catchy phrases or to use technical language in telling the printer how he would like to have his advertising look.

When the merchant sits down to write his ad. he should imagine that his hardest customer to sell to is seated on the other side of his desk. He should write what his talk would be if he were determined to make a sale to that customer when in the most obstinate of moods. He should write it all down, then lock it in his desk for a few hours, later cut out all the superfluous words and print the facts without any trimmings.

Personality Brings Trade.

The nearer the local merchant can come to making his advertising sound like his talk the more effective it will be. Personality is what brings and holds trade; personality secures to your competitor trade likewise difficult to wean away from him.

The modern retail merchant must make sure that his displays in his windows and in the store itself are such as will interest women. A general variety ought to be shown, with prices clearly indicated in plain figures. Make inspection easy and then let shoppers inspect undisturbed, for in this manner many new wants will be developed in the minds of the shoppers.

The merchant or salesman who stands over a shopper and attempts to press a sale invariably annoys the customer and hastens his or her departure.

The merchant who has not advanced with the times must come to a full realization at once that many changes are necessary before he can hope to compete resultfully with retail mail order houses, and the first and principal

A Story of Mountain Railroad Life

by FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Copyright 1915 by Frank H. Spearman

Novelized From the Moving Picture Play of the Same Name Produced by the Signal Film Corporation.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad, by George Storm, newsboy. Storm, a young womanhood Helen makes a spectacular double rescue of Storm, now a freight fireman, and of her father and his friends, Amos Rhinelander, financier, and Robert Seagrue, promoter, from a threatened collision between a passenger train and a runaway freight. Safebreakers employed by Seagrue and Capelle, his lawyer, interrupted by Helen while stealing General Holmes' survey plans of the cut-off line for the Tidewater, fatally wound General Holmes and escape. Storm and Helen chase the murderers on a light engine and capture them. Spike has hidden the plans and manages to inform Seagrue where they are cached. Her father's estate badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Seagrue helps Spike to break jail and uses him to set fire to a powder train hauled by Storm's engine. Helen saves Storm from a horrible death.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT

CHAPTER IV.

When Helen Holmes took the day key at Signal the little office had already passed from the quiet kind to the remorselessly active kind of those small way stations that drive innocent men mad. Two rival lines maintaining large construction camps and getting all their supplies through Signal station, were engaged in a race to build a mountain cut-off—and a considerable one. Despite all the help Lyons, the overworked agent, could give Helen, she found the tasks of her day about all that her strength would compass.

Nor could Helen, situated as she was, escape occasional office visits from Seagrue, whose activity as head of the opposition construction camp was unabated. Going over to the station one day to watch his men unload a shipment of material, he stepped into the office ostensibly to make inquiries—in reality to steal a few minutes with Helen Holmes, whom he found busy, but alone.

Seagrue spoke blandly: "I hear you're becoming quite a railroad expert." She made no effort to reply. "Getting really clever at the key, Lyons says." Helen, entering waybills, went on with her writing. "By the way," asked Seagrue, evenly, "any word this morning from our steam shovel?"

She looked toward the window—the local freight train had just pulled in. "It may be out there now, on No. 85." Seagrue seemed in no haste to investigate, and Helen had almost lost hope of any diversion in that direction, when the office door opened and George Storm walked in.

He was just out of his engine cab, and deliberate and composed as usually, but his eyes, lighting to greet Helen, cooled when he saw Seagrue. Storm nodded curtly toward him and was greeted in kind. Then the stalwart engine man turned his attention to Helen, and Seagrue was soon made to feel the pangs of being distinctly third in the situation and without an anesthetic.

"And the best of it all is," said Storm at length to Helen, "this is my last run on local freights. I am assigned tonight to the Limited."

Helen lifted her eyebrows in surprise: "Some run they're giving you!"

Seagrue took the chance to join sarcastically in: "Right in line for chief of motive power, eh, Storm?"

Storm was not to be disturbed. He only regarded Seagrue calmly for a moment. Then he turned good-naturedly to thank Helen. While soldiering agreeably at this task, his fireman intruded on the scene long enough to remind him they were waiting for him to get out. Storm, with an expression of disgust at the interruption, nodded gruffly to the fireman, concluded his talk with Helen and walked out. Helen rose to go out on the platform also. Seagrue intervened to distract her attention. It was useless. She must deliver a message, she landed was on his way to the city. He hung around the platform till the local passenger pulled in, watched Rhinelander board it, and, mingling with Seagrue's men, walked unobserved over to the latter's camp. He found his boss with the journalists.

"What is it?" demanded Seagrue, scenting news in Spike's appearance. "Rhinelander has just gone to Oceanside."

Seagrue smiled. "Did he get a letter this morning?"

"He did."

Their confab was broken in on by one of the newspaper men who had a print of the photo he had taken of Seagrue at his desk. Seagrue inspected this with the greatest pleasure. "Fine!" he exclaimed. "Good picture!"

A whimsical idea seized him. He wrote a word or two across the back of the print and recalled Spike. "Take this over to Helen Holmes. Give it to her with my compliments." So saying he turned to the photographer.

Spike's reception at the station was always a chilly one. This time Helen took his message and dismissed him before she opened the envelope. When she saw what Seagrue had sent she was angry. Her first impulse was to tear the hateful print in two. Instead, she contemptuously impaled it on a steel file near at hand. A moment later, removing the print to file a message, she looked at the picture again. Her attention was attracted to a paper lying on Seagrue's desk. It had been caught by the camera lens. The longer she looked the more carefully her eyes fixed on this object revealed in the photograph. Very curious now, Helen opened a drawer, took from it a reading glass and studied the contents of Seagrue's desk. Her heart almost stopped beating as she realized that her suspicions must be correct. With the aid of the ordinary glass she could plainly see the survey that had been stolen from her father's library.

Helen looked toward Seagrue's camp. It was there even now, and if she could recover the precious find it was not too late to save her own interests as well as those of her own good friend, Amos Rhinelander.

How could she recover it? With fast kindling hatred of its dishonest possessor, a dozen projects for regaining her own flashed across her mind. The more she thought the more impossible it seemed to devise any scheme that could be carried out in time to help Rhinelander's fight that night at Oceanside.

But what Helen could not devise herself, was being already devised for her. Following up what Spike—an unconscionable liar—had declared a flattering reception of the picture, Seagrue resolved to seize a moment while the going was good to forward himself with Helen.

She was studying the telltale print when she heard footsteps and, startled, looked out. Seagrue was coming up the platform. She felt frightened. Could he possibly have realized his blunder and come to demand the return of the picture? She was resolved she would not surrender it in any event. Force, she was hopeless of as a possible aid in her difficulty. Stratagem and a woman's weapons alone remained to her.

Her wits rapidly cleared. She snatched the photograph. Seagrue, opening the door, caught her, picture in hand. He walked forward pleased. It was not hard for Helen to counterfeited an embarrassment; nor was it in the least unbecoming to her. To Seagrue her look came like a burst of sunshine after many chilling storms. "What do you think of my construction headquarters?" he laughed.

Helen's gaze rested modestly on her table. She seemed to contemplate the picture with a quiet pleasure. Then she looked slowly up at Seagrue. "This doesn't show very much of the camp"—she drew the words the very least bit—"you are awfully busy over there, I suppose."

"Never too busy to welcome our friends. Come over sometime."

"What, to a construction camp?" asked Helen, feigning just enough amazement.

"Why not? Talk about Rhinelander's steam shovels! I'll show you shovels that can do everything but vote. Come on along."

For an effective moment she hesitated. "I couldn't possibly," she declared with decision, but she allowed a note of regret to linger an instant in the tone of her explanation and glanced around. "No one here, you know."

"Well, but what time do you get off?" asked Seagrue feverishly.

"Oh, not for a long time yet."

His hopes were burgeoning fast. "See here, Helen; come over and take a camp dinner with me. Come, do. I'll show you what can be done without preparation."

She regarded him with an expression that indicated how completely such a proposal shocked her. She struggled an instant with the thought of it. Then she rejected the invitation; yet with enough indecision to invite a renewal. For the moment Helen was a heartless angler, and Seagrue deluded by vanity was unsuspectingly playing fish. Before he left—in the highest spirits he had known for many a day—he had, to his astonishment, secured Helen's promise to dine with him that night in camp. And at the appointed time she was ready.

The night was warm and a moon, rising full and into a clear sky, flooded the landscape. And after Helen's uneasiness at the strangeness of her situation had worn off, she was able throughout the trying hour with Seagrue in his hut to wear her mask of languid interest successfully. The table was served with surprising delicacies and a plentiful array of wines was in evidence. Yet, to an innocent intriguer, a whole hour never went so slowly, nor was appetite ever more reluctant than that of Seagrue's guest. Though she went through the form of eating and assumed a carefree air, his food choked her. His wines she persistently declined; but that did not dismay Seagrue, who drank quite enough for two.

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headache of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilide, aspirin or the bromides which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache but will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that those who continue to flush out the stomach, liver and bowels every morning never have any headache or know a miserable moment.

UPHOLD WILSON, SAYS W. H. TAFT

Former President Can't Follow Some People's Patriotism.

PRESIDENT'S NOTE IN BERLIN

It Will Be Some Days Before Answer Can Be Compiled—Washington Regards Situation Up to Germany—British and German Offenses Differ, Declares Taft in Chicago Address.

Berlin, April 22.—The American note in regard to submarine warfare is now in the hands of the German government. It was delivered at 7:30 Friday evening to Foreign Minister von Jagow in usual manner, with no attendant circumstances to mark the unusual importance of the occasion. Owing to the length of the note and appendix and to the delayed arrival of one section, it was not ready for presentation until 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Ambassador Gerard then rolled the document in a magazine to protect it from a slight rain which was falling and walked across the square to the foreign office.

The ambassador was received immediately. The foreign minister read the note and a short general conversation followed. The note probably will not be published here immediately, and no comment by the German press is expected before that time.

Chicago, April 22.—"He is right and we must all stand by him."

Former President William Howard Taft called upon the nation to uphold President Wilson in these words in a speech made at the Mystic Athletic club. War can scarcely be avoided if Germany continues to drown non-combatant Americans on ocean steamers, Mr. Taft declared. However, war need not ensue, even if Germany refuses to heed the warning and Count Bernstorff handed his passports, in the opinion of the nation's former chief executive. In referring to Germany's acts, he also pointed to England's violations of international law.

Some People's Patriotism Misleads. "The president in his last note has warned Germany that we must end our diplomatic relations with her unless she ceases unlawfully to destroy American lives," said Mr. Taft. "I cannot follow the reasoning of those who exalt Americanism and patriotism and yet do not uphold his hands in the present crisis."

English and German Acts Differ. "Both sides in the war have violated our own rights as neutrals. England has failed to keep within the law of blockade as she enforced it against us in the civil war and has seized our vessels and cargoes in violation of our rights. Germany has caused the death of 150 of our citizens by her submarine warfare when by the rules of international law, they were entitled to be saved from danger before the commercial vessels of England and France upon which they were traveling were sunk."

"The difference between the English and the German cases is this, that in the former, the questions can be settled in the future by compensation in damages to be awarded, if need be, by an international court, because they concern property and not human life; in the German case, such a remedy is inadequate because human life is involved and the issue must be settled now or American lives will continue to be sacrificed in violation of the rights of those dying and of the nation owing them protection, and our losses will be irrevocable."

"We Must Stand by Him." "Therefore, the president in his last note has warned Germany that we must end our diplomatic relations with her unless she ceases thus unlawfully to destroy American lives. He is right and we all must stand by him."

"If Germany continues her submarine warfare in such a way as to drown non-combatant Americans, as in the case of the Lusitania and the Sussex, it is difficult to see how war can be avoided. No one prays more earnestly than I that such a result may be avoided and that Germany, facing the consequences of needlessly making another national enemy, shall change her policy and enable us to continue our friendly relations with her."

"In view of the critical nature of the issue, however, is there anything for a clear headed, patriotic American to do but to back up our president, who is our chosen constitutional leader? This is no time to point out mistakes of the past."

Next Move Is Berlin's.

Washington, April 22.—"The outlook is uncertain. There is nothing this government can do until it hears from Berlin."

This view of the status of the submarine issue with Germany was expressed by a high official of the government. Nothing has been received from Berlin to indicate the character of the reception given the new American note. While optimism continues to prevail here over the probable outcome of the latest step taken by this government, it is based admittedly on hope and experience rather than knowledge of the present state of mind of the German government.

The Telegraph is the only paper in Lee county that belongs to the Audit Bureau of Circulation. This means a great deal to the advertiser.

FRENCH HOLD TO GAINS ON MEUSE

Berlin Admits Foe's Offensive Succeeds Near Douaumont.

London, April 22.—With the French in control of newly captured positions on Dead Man Hill, and in the Caurette wood in the same sector, the Crown Prince's activities on the Verdun front were directed chiefly to a violent artillery attack to regain the ground lost to the furious new French offensive.

While the official report from Berlin admits the loss of trenches in the Caurette wood, it claims the repulse of a French offensive to regain the lost positions south of Handremont, which is on the Douaumont sector,
east of the Meuse.

The dispatches of the last forty-eight hours, however, indicate that the attacks launched by the French on various sectors of the Verdun front in that time have been the most violent since the fighting around Vaux village two weeks ago. They appear to be the most determined counteroffensive yet undertaken against the Germans.

TURKS LOSE 3,000 IN BATTLE

British Mow Down the Attacking Forces in Mesopotamia.

London, April 22.—The recent attack of the Turks on the British forces along the Tigris in Mesopotamia was made by about 10,000 men and cost them heavy losses.

The official report says: "Their killed alone on the night of April 17-18 are estimated at more than 3,000.
In several instances attacks were led by Germans, some of whom were kiled."
